porting to be those of defendant—Shreve alone defending—and he pleaded that the notes were not excented to him, nor hy any one authorized by him; that he and his partner were engaged in the grocery and variety business, and the notes were not executed in the course of that business, but were made by his partner for his own purpose and not for the benefit of the firm; and by the terms of copartnership neither party had the right to bind the firm otherwise than in the legitimate urse of the business. Defendant proved that is partner executed the notes sued on to plaintiffs in exchange for the notes of plaintiffs of the ame date and amount as those sued or, and dis-ounted plaintiffs' notes and used the money for his individual purpose, and all this without Shreve's knowledge: that defendants' firm was in good credit, and could have commanded, at any me, credit for several thousand dollars.

Plaintiff proved that with the very best houses, exchange of notes was not usual, but was often lone to btain what is called business paper; that such paper was more promptly discounted by the ach paper was more promptly discounted by the efendants, and when discounted in bank, paid them off; that plaintiffs' firm was in good standing, and its notes readily commanded money. Plaintiff moved the court for the following laructions, which were given:

That, if the jury believe from the evidence that e note such on was executed by Stewart during he existence of the partnership, they must find for plaintiffs, nnless they do believe that the money raised on plaintiffs' note was applied to his Stewart's) own nee, and that plaintiffs knew, or had reacou to know, at the time of the exchange of tee, that he (Stewart) was so interested. 2. That the cans of proving that Stewart appli-d the proceeds of the raid note to his own use, and plaintiffs' knowledge of his intention so to apbly 12, is upon defendant.

3. That any special restrictions in the articles partnership should not affect the plaintiffs, uns they had knowledge of the same: that, if they d no such knowledge, they had a right to deal with the firm in respect to the business thereof, upon the general principles and presumptions of a bip of a like nature. 4. That If they find, from the evidence, that the defendants were partners in the business of varie-ty, grocery, and commission merchants at the date f the note sued on, and that Stewart made, and elivered the same to plaintiffs, in the name of the rm of Shreve & Stewart, and the same was exented in good faith by plaintiffs, and with up mowledge that it was for the exclusive benefit of Sewart, as the note of defendants, the law is for aintiffe.

The defendants asked the fell wing last ructions hich were given, with the additions hy the court et ont in brackets:

If the Jury bolieve, from the evidence, that the change of notes was not for the mutual accomodation of Stewart and plaintiffs, without the nowledge or consent of Sbreve, and not for the nefit of the firm, or Shreve [and such was the nderstanding of plaintiffs at the time], they ust find for the defendant, Shreve.

If the Jury believe, from the evidence, that the otes were given for purposes not within the scope f the partnership, without the knowledge or con-ent of Shreve, that the money was raised and used for the individual purposes of Stewart, and that the application for the notes by Stewart was made at a time, and under circumstances that would justly excite suspicion that the above money was for Stewart's benefit, the law is for the efendants—but in determining this last proposion, they must look to the evidence in the case. Verlict—We, of the Jury, find for plaintiffs the nount in petition mentioned Morgan & Highland plaintiffs, va R. M. Hathaway, defendant.

This was an action on a written contract; plaintiff alleged it was made by defendant by Jas. H. Widing, his agent; that by the contract plaintiffs agreed to deliver to R. M. Hathaway, between certain points on the Ohio river, in February, 1958, at accessible steamboat landings, 10,000 bushels of good sound merchantable corn at 40 cents per shel; that on the 20th of February plaintiff had the corn ready for delivery between the points named, and gave defendant reasonable notice of the fact, but he failed to receive it, and it decreasd in value from 19 to 20 cents per bushel, and neted dyment for the difference in value, about 20 onts per bushel, amounting to about $1,100. A part of the corn was received and paid for.

Defendant deried the allegations of the plainffs. For 7 or fifty depositions were read by plaintiff, amongst others one taken by defrulant of a witness then in court, in obedience to a sub-cena. To the reading of this deposition deand ant objected, but the court allowed it to be sail, and defendant excepted. The witness resides in Daviess

By the plain iff's proof it appeared that they had notified Widing that the errn were ready, and where it was; that Widing was defendant's agent to buy this lot of corn only, and on this point the proof was very slight; no notice was ever given to defendant. Defendant moved to instruct the jury as in case of a lawsuit, on the ground that notice to Widing was no notice; that if an agent at all, he was so only for the purchase of the corn, and that done, is anthority ended; that his right will be trusted o such a contract, when perhaps defendant would ot trust him to receive the corn, and disburse the noney for it.

Plaintiffs contended that the authority to buy carried with it the anthority to receive and pay for the corn, and that notice to Willing was notice o defendant. The court gave the instruction, and plaintifferers non-suited. They moved to set aside the non-suit and grant a new trial, but the court

overruled the motion

MCEART HALL-PARBOW'S BENEFIT .- To-nigh is the last appoarance of the really excellent troupe now performing at Mozart Hali. For nearly two weeks they have nightly delighted their audiences, proving that they present the best variety and best bills of any troups that has visited us for a long time. And now that we have no other amusement in the city, we can hardly doubt that there will be a crowded house, especially as it is for the benefit of Bill Parrow. We advise all who are fond of Ethiopian performances to go, as they may not soon have another chance.

We again call upon all the females that are able o work, and whom we assisted last winter, to come to our Sewing School, on the west side of Fifth cross street, 3d door from Green, towards Walnut street. As many stated to us that the want of work compelled them to ask us for aid, we have repared employment for all. Our great object is odo a permanent good, not by furnishing them, winter after winter, with fuel and provisions, but by teaching them to sew until they are so thoroughly shilled in the use of the needle, that they coat teach their own daughters and make thom all good scennstresses, and all of them become active operatives, and useful, independent members of society. We sak nothing for instruction, but, on the contrary, we will pay the cash for all they do, and will be them have groceries by the small as wholesale prices; and if they cannot earn enough while the are learning to the contrary. while they are learning to support themselves, we will give them additional aid. We are offered sewing for a whole year, from one house, f r one hundred good seam-tree-es, and they would rather may a high price than a low one, if they could got eir sewing done well.

All these that have entered the school with a rull determination to learn are making rapid progress; their work pusses inspective, and they are delighted with their prospects. We sincerely hope that ail will accept our offer, and permit us to cie vate them above want, by placing in their hands an inexcaustible capital that will hereafter ren-der them independent. But if they refuse to go to work, it wall be alregether useless for them eve t may be very painful to us when we find them tuffering as they were last winter, whom we assisto it, for we cannot reconcile it to our feelings people with it that are able to work, but refuse to do it; for we take too broad ground that all those that are able to labor, and reluse to work, are unworthy of help.

A undise-aged man (his name f r chrious rea-sons we suppress) who mad of late been considera-bly addicted to inebriaten, went to the bridge at the mid hour of night with the express intention of throwing himself therefrom and changing this for another existence. Arriving at the end of the for another existence. Armying at the end of the bridge on the Newport aids, he fancied he saw in the sharew of one of the towers or piers the skirt to a woman's dress. Gallant to the last, despite his own suffering condition, he approached the pier, and sure crough he there discovered a women agonisting with the pages of child-birth. Fergetting his purpose to destroy himself, or concluding to dofer its execution to some more favorable opportunity, he ran for assistance, which happily he soon obtained, and returned assisting to remove the woman and the new candidate for misery to more comfortable quarters, and becoming interested in his charge indefinitely postpoxed.

The conference came to no arrangement or con-clusion on the cell addressed to all parties. It was resolved that a committee of three make the re names of Sumner, Wilson, and Banks, at their re-

The motion was carried to preceed to formal ballot. Wilmot's name was withdrawn. Dayton will be nominated. The New England States are nanimons. The format ballot was unanimous, except New York, Connecticut, and Pennsylvania. Twenty for Lincoln, of Connecticut, and Banks four. Now York—Sumer three, Ford one, King January and Spansylvania. one. Pennsylvania—Sumner one, and Elder one Whole vote for Dayton five hundred and twentynine. It was then made unanimous.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19. After the nomination, the convention was addressed by a large number of s; cakers, including John P. Hale, of New Hampshire; Dorscheimer, of Batfalo; John A. Klng, of New York; Gov. Kent, of Maine; Judge Headley, Senator Wilsen, of Massachusetts; Judge Wilmot Williams, of Pennsylvania; Judge Tylor, of Connection; Blakely, of Kantucky, Understood, of Vicalian University

THE NORTHERN OWL CONVENTION. New York, June 19.
The anti-Fillmere Convention re-convened this norning at Apollo Rooma, and after a brief consul-action, adjourned till 4 o'clock, when they will recive the report of their delegation to the Repub ican Convention in Philadelphla.

Upon the re-assembling of the Convention at 4 clock, the Committee of Conference reported the eault of the mission to Philadelphia, but made recommendation. Various speeches expressive of indignation against the Republicans were made, and the Convention then adjouoned till to-morrow.

Several delegates declared themselves now for Fillmore and a clear American ticket. MR. BUCHANAN'S ANSWER.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.

Mr. Buchanen's lotter in response to the nomination is published this morning. After expressing his gratification entertained at this high political horor, he says he is deeply sensible of the vest and varied responsibilities, and especially at the present crisis. He has carefully refrained from seeking the nomination by word a deal and from seeking the nomination by word or deed, and accepts it with diffidence, trusting, if elected, to be able to allay domestic strife, preserve pesce and friendship with foreign nations, and promote the best interests of the Republic. He accepts in the same spirit the platform, and will confine himself to it throughout the cances, believing that he has no right, by answering interrogatories, to present new and different issues before the peo-

He cordially concurs in the sentiments of the platform relative to civil and religious liberty, and regarding clavery. Ho thinks the latter rapidly approaching a ficality. The Kansas act does no more than give force of law to the elementary of the country, to overthrow all sectional partie restore peace, friendship, and mutual confidence, among all members of the confederacy."
